

Disclaimer

For

The Subordinate Constitution for Colorado

An owner's accepted version. Accept as a valid set of subordinate rules to the Declaration of Independence through only the end of the so called "bill of rights". The reason this owner does not accept in total the changes past the "bill of rights" is I have no record of any request coming back to the owners to change the subordinate Colorado Constitution. I and my co-owners made (gave) the original contract rules. It has to come back to us for any valid changes. If changes were made, it must come back to us for any valid changes through Article XIX, not through use of referendums. To the extent that so called changes (even thought invalid) were to quietly or covertly correct operational errors in the base operation of the system, I accept those parts. The reason being, the pretended changed rules are covered by the base rules of the Declaration of Independence and the subordinate U S Constitution. Two examples are: women were always equal to men and have always held the lawful status of first class voters; plus, blacks, gays, and lesbians were never lawfully excluded from holders of unalienable rights or first class voter status. A copy of the subordinate Colorado Constitution of 1876 can be found by accessing the Colorado State Archives website: www.colorado.gov/doi/archives.

May Elizabeth Devarance
Owner: (name)
Dated: August 27, 2007

Robert C. Balink
Joseph Mc Carville
Stewart
Alma Rose
Brendyn Taylor
Jo Nash-Gowan
Kobayashi
Laraine Lannon

I/We the undersigned claim and declare this version as the subordinate Colorado constitution to the subordinate United States Constitution of 1789 pursuant to the republicans law, the Declaration of Independence.

I/We uphold and adhere to the extent of the law. Chadwick
May Elizabeth Devarance : King Thomas, Boston
Yvonne - Ruth : Loggans
Dale Lynn Lurvey

Gene W. Post
Robert C. Balink
Stewart
Alma Rose
Brendyn Taylor
Jo Nash-Gowan
Kobayashi
Laraine Lannon
Norma A. Gass
Ladelle Hopkins
Victoria Pagan
Thomas E. Langford
Maria Alejia
Robert L. Lutz
Davidson
Calvin
Norma Eugene
Stephan Henry
1188
Ronald Richard

ROBERT C. "BOB" BALINK
6/13/2008 12:58:32
Doc $0.00 Page
Rec $11.00 1 of 2
208012205

Disclaimer

For

The Subordinate Constitution for Colorado

An owner's accepted version. Accept as a valid set of subordinate rules to the Declaration of Independence through only the end of the so called "bill of rights". The reason this owner does not accept in total the changes past the "bill of rights" is I have no record of any request coming back to the owners to change the subordinate Colorado Constitution. I and my co-owners made (gave) the original contract rules. It has to come back to us for any valid changes. If changes were made, it must come back to us for any valid changes through Article XIX, not through use of referendums. To the extent that so called changes (even though invalid) were to quietly or covertly correct operational errors in the base operation of the system, I accept those parts. The reason being, the pretended changed rules are covered by the base rules of the Declaration of Independence and the subordinate US Constitution. Two examples are: women were always equal to men and have always held the lawful status of first class voters; plus, blacks, gays, and lesbians were never lawfully excluded from holders of unalienable rights or first class voter status. A copy of the subordinate Colorado Constitution of 1876 can be found by accessing the Colorado State Archives website: www.colorado.gov/doh/archives.

May Elizabeth Insurance
Owner: (name)
Dated: August 25, 2007

I/We, the undersigned, do hereby and declare this version as the subordinate Colorado constitution to the subordinate United States Constitution of 1789 pursuant to the original base, the Declaration of Independence.

I/We uphold and adhere to the intent of the base.

May Elizabeth Insurance
David F. Herby
Ronald J. Blann
Bonnie J. Stetzy

ROBERT C. "BOB" BALINK
01/01/2008 12:50:37
Doc $0.00 Page
Rec $11.00 07/2

El Paso County, CO
200802205

11/2

